

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS
Representing the finest clerks, recorders, election officials & treasurers.

2018 iGO Webinar Series

Free and Low-Cost Resources Your Election Office Needs In 2018

Wednesday, May 9, 2018 at 3 PM ET.

Whitney May

Co-founder and Director of Government Services
The Center for Technology and Civic Life.

Whitney May is co-founder and Director of Government Services at the Center for Technology and Civic Life. At CTCL she leads a team that's building the best professional development network for election officials who want to learn about new ways to engage the public and keep up with changing technology. Before joining CTCL in Chicago, Whitney worked on the Voting Information Project in Washington, D.C. and served the Durham County Board of Elections in North Carolina.

Twitter: @whitneymaybe

Kurt Sampsel

Government Services Project Manager
The Center for Technology and Civic Life

Kurt Sampsel is Government Services Project Manager at the Center for Technology and Civic Life. Before coming to work for CTCL, Kurt earned a Ph.D. from Carnegie Mellon University, where his research focused on government regulation of media and communications. In addition to his research experience, he brings a background as a broadcast journalist and a teacher of college communications courses. At CTCL, his work focuses on helping election officials use tech to better engage their communities and make voting easier. ^[1] _[2] ^[3] _[4]

Twitter: @kurt_sampsel